Medi-Cal Cutbacks Announced

The Department of Health Care Services has announced it is taking two steps by law effective December 15 to offset a projected $70 million imbalance in the state's share of the Medi-Cal program because of a "soaring welfare patient caseload."

Director Earl W. Brian said health care would be limited to "medically necessary" services and that payments to doctors, dentists and almost all other providers would be trimmed 10 percent until June 30, 1971.

Exempted by federal law from the payment adjustment was hospitalization.

"Not one of the 23 services provided by Medi-Cal for more than two million patients is being eliminated," Director Earl W. Brian disclosed. "All emergency and medically essential care will be continued."

"Although the average cost per recipient is down this year for the first time in the Medi-Cal program's history, we have a fixed budget and a soaring welfare patient caseload," Dr. Brian said. "By state law, I must delay elective health care services and reduce payments to those who provide them."

He said his department received present and projected Medi-Cal patient caseload figures from the State Department of Social Welfare which showed December 1 that about 283,000 more people are eligible than were projected in Governor Reagan's original budget.

The projected imbalance represents approximately $70 million in state money and a like amount in matching federal funds.

Once the budget imbalance is confirmed, Dr. Brian said he is required under 1967 amendments to the Medi-Cal law to delay non-essential services and reduce provider payment 10 percent.

Dr. Brian ordered the new regulations after conferring with the Department's advisory group, the Health Review and Program Council, composed of representatives of a variety of professions which serve the program.

"None of the restrictions apply to emergency medical cases—they will continue to

PG&E Requests Offset For Cost Increase

An increase in the purchase price of natural gas from Pacific Gas and Electric Company's southwest supplier led PG&E to apply to the California Public Utilities Commission for an offsetting increase in gas rates.

El Paso Natural Gas Company, which supplies 40% of PG&E's requirements from fields in Texas and New Mexico, will increase the price it charges PG&E for gas on March 31, 1971. This increase will be approximately $9,000,000 above the El Paso gas cost on which PG&E's present rates were fixed.

PG&E requested the Commission to authorize new rates effective on the same date to offset the effect of this additional cost. For residential customers the increase would average less than 10 cents per month.

If the Federal Power Commission were later to reduce El Paso's rates to PG&E and require El Paso to make a refund, PG&E would reduce its rates accordingly and pass along the refund to its customers.

The PG&E application said the requested new rates will only enable the company to maintain its rate of return at the level which would exist without an increase by El Paso in its price for natural gas. This rate of return, PG&E said, is below the level of 7.3% recognized by the CPUC as fair and reasonable for PG&E's gas operations when the Commission fixed the existing rates to customers earlier this year.

PG&E serves 2.2 million residential, commercial and industrial gas customers in 37 counties of Northern and Central California.

qualify for program benefits," the director said.

Furthermore, he said, non-emergencies will be cared for when a delay of more than 90 days would impair the health of the patient.

Federal law exempts inpatient hospital services from the 10 percent payment reduction, but all other services are affected uniformly. The reduction of providers' payments is expected to save nearly $12 million and delay in non-essential services another $58 million by the end of the fiscal year.

Hospital Has New Policy

Beverly Manor Convalescent Hospital, located on the Carmel-Pacific Grove Highway near Highway 1, has initiated a new policy to accept Residential Care guests, it was announced recently by Roberts T. Nelson, administrator.

The 99-bed facility, recognized as one of the most beautiful in the nation, will house residential guests in a distinctly separate area from the nursing care section.

The hospital will continue to provide rehabilitative care for post surgery and convalescent patients in the nursing care section, it was disclosed.

According to Nelson, "Since Beverly Manor was opened in 1969, we have received numerous requests for Residential Care and Services. The matter has been under study for many months and it was concluded to respond to the needs of a large segment of the community and institute a Residential Care program."

"Guests will be delighted with the luxurious private and semi-private rooms, each equipped with its own television. Daily maid service adds to the comfort," stated Nelson. "A wide variety of delicious meals, prepared under the direction of Beverly Manor's registered dietitian, will be served in the elegant dining room. Luxurious lounges and sun drenched patios offer delightful areas for reading, conversation and recreation," he said. "A complete activities program, under the direction of professional activities counselors, will provide guests with a wide choice of meaningful activities ranging from bridge clubs to sewing."

Commenting on nursing services, Nelson said "All Residential Care guests at Beverly Manor can utilize the resources of our highly qualified professional staff of nursing care section. Registered Physical Therapists and other skilled professionals are also available."

For complete information on the Residential Care program at Beverly Manor, call AC408 624-1875.

Ansel Adams' photograph "Leaves, Mills College", is currently on display at Drummond's Bookstore in downtown Monterey.

The photo is being offered as a door prize at the open house which will be held at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies on Tuesday, December 15, from 2 to 7 p.m. Tickets for the drawing are available at the Institute and at the following bookstores: Drummonds in Monterey, Walden in Del Monte Center, Thunderbird in Carmel Valley and Wells in Carmel.

The public is invited to attend this open house at Monterey's only private college, with a unique educational program in foreign languages, international economics, social sciences, area studies, education and communications.

Visitors will sit in on classes, see films from foreign countries and join a wine tasting in the evening. There also will be a special arts and crafts exhibit from foreign countries and an international fashion show.

The drawing for the photo will be held at 7 p.m. on December 15. No need to be present to win.

The Institute is located on Van Buren Street in Monterey, two blocks west of the San Carlos Hotel.

NPS Professor Is in Russia

E.B. Dally, professor of physics at the Naval Postgraduate School, is one of five Americans engaging in the first joint experiment involving Russian and U.S. physicists.

He and the others, who are from the University of California at Los Angeles, are at the High Energy Physics Institute at Serpukhov near Moscow. There they will collaborate with a team of Russian physicists from Dubna. Their joint effort will be the first to try direct measurement of the radius of the pi meson by bombarding electrons with negative pions. The experiment requires very high energies which are only available at the Russian Institute's 70 GeV accelerator, the most powerful in the world.

Although Russian physicists have worked with scientists from other countries in the past, this experiment is unique for the United States. Agreement to proceed was reached after two years of negotiations between the Atomic Energy Commission and the Russian State Committee for the Utilization of Atomic Energy.

The major support for the

Students Have Field Trip

Almost every adult looking back on junior or senior high school experiences will recall one or more outstanding extracurricular event that he or she never will forget. The student may have been a participant or a spectator for a dramatic or musical production, for a sports, debate or student body activity which did not seem like learning at the time, but which brightened and added depth to future learning and enriched future experience.

For 50 students from King Junior High School in Seaside, a highlight of their education may be the recent Saturday field trip to the new Oakland Museum and to BlackMan's Art Gallery, San Francisco.

At the Oakland Museum students went on a guided tour of the natural science exhibit, then wandered about to see the California history display and the black arts and fine arts exhibits.

At BlackMan's Art Gallery students saw work by contemporary young black artists, as explained by Juba Solo, the director. This is the only black art gallery (owned and directed by blacks) in the area and a popular place for school field trips. Hopefully, the trip will arouse student appreciation of the natural sciences, historical spots and art exhibits available on the Monterey Peninsula.

Students were chosen to go on the field trip as a reward for school service or because it was believed they could profit from exposure to the cultural institutions. Sponsors of the project who accompanied the students on the trip were Mrs. Helen Rucker, librarian; Mrs. Mae Singleton, counselor and William Martin, community school director for King. Other staff who went were Mary Green, assistant librarian and Brad Knight, community school aid.

Pledges Support

Upon learning of the planned closure of the California Men's Colony West Facility, State Senator Donald L. Grunsky of Watsonville pledged his full support to assist Superintendent Harold V. Field of the Men's Colony in assuring employees of the West Facility that they will retain their positions through transfers to other facilities within the Department of Corrections.

Grunsky said, "I am not pleased to learn of the planned closure, but I can understand the logic with the continued increase in empty beds within the system."

He further stated, "It is always difficult to accept a closure, particularly when it occurs at home. However, an extensive effort has already been commenced to determine where vacancies exist within the Department in an attempt to fill them with employees from the West Facility. It is my understanding that a position bank has been established to facilitate the transfer of these employees."

"Superintendent Field has successfully opened three new facilities during his career and if there is anyone within the system who can handle the transition flawlessly, he is the one who can do it," Grunsky said.

Contracts Are Awarded

The State Director of Public Works has announced the award of two Monterey County contracts to E.A. Buttlar Contractors, Inc., of Salinas.

The firm was low bidder on both projects, which involve work on Federal Aid Secondary Roads.

A $258,076 bid covers conversion of 1.5 miles of East Blanco Road (FAS County Route 1084) from two to four lanes.

Work limits extend from South Main Street to Abbott Street, in and near Salinas.

A total of 90 working days are allocated for completion of the project, on which five bids were received.

Under the second contract—in the amount of $254,706.90, 1.5 miles of Natividad Road (FAS County Route 656) will be reconstructed in order to correct inadequate shoulders and other deficiencies.

The project, which will extend from Rogee Road to Old Stage Road (about two miles northeast of Salinas) includes construction of a reinforced concrete slab bridge over Gablian Creek.

This two-lane roadway will ultimately become the east-bound lanes of a four-lane divided road.

Six bids were received on the job, for which 100 working days are allowed.

Publisher's Report Seaside Ripples

A.E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

I see where President Nixon finally took some positive action to hold down prices. In doing so he took on the most powerful industry in the Nation — the Oil Industry. Nixon plans to increase crude oil supplies and to thereby lower retail prices. There were the usual cries of anguish from the spokesmen of the oil industry that there would be a shortage of oil for national defense and that the nation was already producing "to near capacity," etc. and etc.

We all think that it was about time that the office of the president took some real action to curb the rise in prices. Many months ago the Congress gave the President the power to place ceilings on prices, but he has refused the authority. Many of the country's leading economists and the Democratic leadership in the House and Senate have suggested to the President that he institute Wage and Price Controls, but the president and the administration have consistently refused, even in the face of the highest inflation in our history and in the face of a rising unemployment which hits the purchasing power of the people and therefore hurts the small businessman who must depend on the purchasing of the consumer to stay in business.

In our own state there were 66,000 more jobless in this November than there were in October. This means 574,00 are without jobs. One year ago there were only 363,000 without jobs, so you can see that instead of things getting

Nursing Home Rate Meeting Announced

The Department of Health Care Services has called a public hearing for December 15-16 in Sacramento for a new and lower-proposed nursing home rate for 55,000 Medi-Cal patients.

Director Earl W. Brian said the new maximum daily rate proposed by the Department is $13.54 compared to the present $14. It would be effective February 1, 1971.

The new rate was derived from data from California's 1,300 nursing homes and from a private accounting firm's review of 76 nursing homes chosen at random.

The Department also surveyed nursing homes rates in Oregon and Washington State, where the respective maximum rates were found to be $10.79 and $10.18.

The new rate hearing is the result of a suit against the State by the California Association of Nursing Homes concerning rates. The court ruled that the Department could not establish rates negotiated with the industry without a public hearing in which the basis for the rates were introduced.

The Department also has been assigned responsibility for regulations and rates for a "middle level" of out-of-home professional care, filling the gap between homes that provide no nursing care and those that provide it around the clock.

Dr. Brian said the Department would adopt regulations this month for this new level of intermediate care with a proposed maximum monthly rate of $305.

Intermediate care "will accent social needs rather than medical care," Dr. Brian said.

The new middle level care was designed by the Human Relations Agency for those

Increase in Veterans Interviewed

A 15 percent increase in the number of veterans interviewed at the San Francisco Veterans Assistance Center during the past fiscal year—from 8,447 to 9,939—was recently reported by the San Francisco Veterans Administration Regional Office. Regional Director of the VA, Gordon R. Elliott, said most of the veterans (9,306) who visited the VA center in San Francisco were high school graduates, some with college training.

The remaining counseling sessions were with veterans who were high school dropouts, a group the VA makes a special effort to help.

Elliott explained that specialists in veterans' benefits and a professional social worker at the Veterans Assistance Center counsel recently separated veterans and assist them in applying for those benefits.

The center also helped 5,443 veterans file applications for various benefits during the past fiscal year, an increase of 12 percent over the previous year, he pointed out.

This includes a 45 percent increase—from 130 to 189—in the number of young veterans without high school diplomas who applied for education programs under the G. I. Bill.

Elliott noted a 20 percent increase in the number of veterans in these categories who applied for education and

Right Turn Law Amended

Under a new amendment to the Vehicle Code that became effective November 23, a driver may complete a right turn into any lane in the direction he is turning if his turn is made from a one-way street. Prior to this amendment, right turns were required to be completed as close as practicable to the right-hand curb or edge of the roadway, whether or not the turn was made from a one-way street.

The California Highway Patrol, reviewing the new rules of the road enacted by the 1970 Legislature, called attention also to a section allowing a driver normally restricted to the right-hand lane to use another lane when necessary to continue upon his intended route. Normally, vehicles limited to 55 miles per hour, such as trailers school buses, farm labor vehicles and trucks with more than two axles, must stay in the right-hand lane.

However, when the highway divides for separate routes or there is a left-hand exit—the slower vehicles may use lanes other than the extreme right-hand lanes.

Another amendment, intended to reduce unsafe lane changes, requires that when a load obstructs the driver's view to the rear through the inside mirror, the vehicle must have exterior mirrors on both left and right-hand sides. However, if the load consists only of passengers, the right-hand mirror is not required.

Henceforth, a rigid coupling structure, such as a tow-bar, will be required when one motor vehicle tows another on a freeway. An exception is granted only to allow one vehicle to tow another from the point of disassembly to the nearest and most accessible freeway exit.

Drivers in snow country will discover new speed limits this winter. A new code section authorizes prima facie speed limits of 40, 35, 30 or 25 miles per hour based on prevailing snow conditions rather than declaring only a 25 mile per hour limit under such conditions as was done under prior law.

Reservations At Ticketron

State Parks and Recreation Director William Dean Mott Jr. has issued a reminder that the new reservation system for tours at Hearst San Simeon State Historic Park went into effect November 23.

"Now," Mott said, "anyone wishing to visit the fabulous Hearst Castle will be able to get a confirmed reservation in minutes from any one of the 230 Ticketron terminals located throughout the State."

The only cost for this service, in addition to the regular charge for Hearst tours, is 35 cents per ticket. Reservations may be made from at least one day to as far ahead as 60 days in advance.

If there is no Ticketron terminal handy, Mott explained, reservations may be made directly with the department at its headquarters in Sacramento. Again, there is a 35-cent-per-ticket charge.

For tour information and reservation forms, write or visit the Reservation Office, State Department of Parks and Recreation, 1116 Ninth Street, Sacramento 95811.

When making reservations by mail, allow at least ten days for processing and confirmation.

Information regarding costs, tour information and schedules is available at the Ticketron office in the Sears store at 1002 South Main Street in Salinas.

Dolan Road Work Finished

Supervisor Warren Church has announced that the improvement of Dolan Road between Elkhorn Road and the Southern Pacific Railroad, with reconstructed connections to Castroville Boulevard, Elkhorn, Ormair, Russo and Avila Roads has been completed at a cost of $305,000.

The contract was awarded to Granite Construction Company of Watsonville on July 7, 1970 and was completed on November 19, 1970.

The work, in general, consisted of constructing a graded roadbed on a new alignment, placing aggregate subbase, aggregate base, asphalt concrete and a medium seal coat on the shoulders.

better, as we have been promised from the White House in the last few years, things are getting worse.

We think that the Republican administration has waited long enough just to start now with a campaign to "jawbone" prices downward. We think that it is about time that they instituted real wage and price controls and we mean right now, not some far away day when it will be too late.

In our issue of August 14, 1969, on the occasion of the introduction of President Nixon's welfare reform bill, we wrote:

"The announcement from Washington by the Nixon administration that there would be a change in the welfare system which would bring about a 'guaranteed income for the poor' was welcome news, provided that the Congress gets around to implementing some part of the program. The federal program would provide supplements to a family of four to an income which could reach $3,920 annually, provided that the recipient is willing to work. Other changes would help the aid to dependent children program by adding four billion a year to the present welfare bill.

"In studying the report from Washington we can see that the proposals put forth have great merit and would go a long way towards helping solve some of the long-range welfare problems. The great problem as we see it though is why did the administration wait so long in the Congressional year to make the proposals knowing full well that there would not be time to act on them in this session of the Congress. The pressures on the administration to pay some attention to our domestic problems has been great and it may be that the announcements were made to relieve that pressure. The Vietnam war and the space program have taken so much of our time and money and I imagine that the leaders in Washington decided that they had better take off some of the pressure by making the welfare announcements this year even though they knew that there would be no action on them. Let us hope that there are some leaders in Washington that will not let the new proposals die and will make efforts to implement them in the next session."

Those welfare proposals are still in the hopper today and it seems that the administration is having a hard time convincing some of its own members to support the welfare reform and many of the liberal Democrats are making a political football out of what was once a good proposal, even if it was submitted by a Republican president. It only goes to prove that what I said over a year ago—that the administration waited too long in the first place—is true and now is in a bind with its own members in the second place. I would be quite surprised if they get out a decent welfare reform bill at all. Why should they. What would the reactionaries have to holler about if one of their own reformed welfare and put everybody to work.

There is so much going on in Washington and in our own capitol of Sacramento that it is difficult for even seasoned observers to make an intelligent analysis of even a portion of all that is going on. How can we expect the man in the street to make any kind of observation when all he can get to read and study is fed to him by the propaganda machine of the so-called "establishment." But somehow the man on the street does make an intelligent analysis for himself and he does it by his own god-given mind, which, with its still, small voice warns him of any dangers ahead.

In Kahlil Gibran's chapter on the "Divinity of Man," I picked up the final passages which read...

"But Man in his Divinity I saw standing like a giant in the midst of wrath and destruction, mocking the anger of the earth and the aging of the elements.

"Like a pillar of light Man stood amidst the ruins of Babylon, Nineveh, Palmyra and Pompeii and as he stood he sang the song of immortality... Let the Earth take that which is hers, For I, Man, have no ending."

WHO CARES

Mel Vercoe
Telescopes are important. So are airplanes. Telescopes sometimes give us a better look at places far away from us and airplanes can on occasion transport us to places we would like to visit.

Since speed in transportation has become necessary, lest we step on each others heels trying to get from place to place, we have put great emphasis on speed, whether in automobiles, boats and trains. We prefer to buy automobiles that are over-powered to a ridiculous degree, rather than pay less for an engine of simply sufficient power. To cross the country, a job that used to require months of travel, we now demand a ride of five hours instead of six.

And all this luxury is expensive. We pollute the environment and we lose lives in accidents, but it is a price we are apparently willing to pay in our peculiar desire to hurry to get someplace in time to sit down over a beer and enjoy our triumph over common sense.

The supersonic transport, an airplane that could save two or three hours while crossing the ocean, which would almost make up for the four hours extra time it would take to travel by bus to and from supersonic special airports, has just been frowned on by the United States Senate, a body of men not ordinarily noted for displaying much wisdom. Boeing Aircraft stock started down and a wave of hunger pangs must have momentarily struck this years class of aeronautical engineers.

We are in the midst of an unusual era of rude awakening, and era brought on by the collision of two realities - that things, like unnecessary wars, idiotic moon research programs, useless ABM systems, usurious interest rates, criminally questionable farm subsidies and government defense contracts - collide head-on with the fact that we are not only by-passing real needs, but that the rest of the world is taking advantage of our irresponsibility and is passing us up while we make this desperate stand to convince everyone we are the top turtle on the cue stick.

And now we find out that the United States Treasury, our Treasury, somehow was inveigled into putting up 98 million, not 98 thousand, but 98 million dollars of our money to finance a fancy telescope on a satellite out in space where the air is clear. We already have telescopes that examine stars so far away they look like stars, yet are galaxies, like our own, that are so big it takes light 80,000 years to travel from one side of them to the other. So we needed to look farther. Why?

It isn't really important that our satellite telescope was a flop; it failed to orbit. What is important is that it is just the latest in a long series of idiocies - that a great nation like ours can take a half dollar from each and every man, woman and child to finance a scientific toy, while causes like muscular distrophy and cancer research have to literally beg from door to door

RED AND WHITE CHRISTMAS BALL
The Les Grand Coeurs will host their Eleventh Annual Red and White Formal Ball on Friday, December 18 from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the Mark Thomas Outrigger, Cannery Row. Music will be provided by the popular "Rhythm and Blues Trio", featuring Lula Robinson.

Although the affair is invitational, guests are asked to bring a toy for a boy or girl. Toys are given to needy children in hopes that their Christmas may be an enjoyable one.

The members of the Les Grand Coeurs are proud to introduce six members newly elected into the organization. Taking part in the non-profit state chartered organization are Billie Downing, Mary McLemore, Helyn Mitchell, Clara Johnson, Vivian Holley, all of Seaside and Jane Van Hook of Monterey.

CHAMPAGNE SIP

Mr. John Perkins, owner and operator of the John Perkins Photo Service in Seaside, hosted a champagne sip for approximately 300 guests who came to see his new Color Processing Arkay machine on Thursday, November 12, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

This new machine will enable Perkins to process 184-8X10 pictures in 23 minutes, or 92-8X10 and 46-11X14 or 16X20 prints, also in 23 minutes.

Among invited guests were the Mayors of Seaside and Monterey, Councilmen of both Seaside and Monterey, representatives from the Chamber of Commerce and KRML Radio.

As a surprise, his wife, Sara and daughter, Nita, brought a beautiful decorated cake, in honor of Perkins' birthday. Those present sang "Happy Birthday" to him.

WINNERS OF THANKSGIVING

Willie Harbin of Monterey and Sally Adams of Salinas were the two winners of the Les Grand Coeurs Annual Thanksgiving Turkey Basket raffle. Drawing was held on Sunday, November 22 at 7 p.m. Lovely baskets were delivered to happy winners.

Fire Law Strengthened

A fire prevention law was transformed into a litter law by the 1970 California Legislature.

The Vehicle Code section which prohibits throwing a lighted cigarette, cigar, match or other flaming or glowing substance on the highway had been applicable only outside of business or residence districts. After November 23, the effective date of the amendment, the law was extended to all highways and applies to non-lighted cigarettes, cigars, matches and so forth, as well as lighted ones.

Penalties for littering have been expanded too. Henceforth abstracts of convictions for all litter violations, whether under the Vehicle Code, Penal Code or Health and Safety Code will be forwarded to the Department of Motor Vehicles to become a permanent part of the record and a second or subsequent conviction for any of these violations will require a court appearance unless the judge finds that an undue hardship will be imposed.

Minimum penalties are stipulated in the amendments, too to add new weight to the prohibitions. Ten dollars is the minimum fine for the first offense.

Snow Tires Can Replace Tire Chains

A new regulation is being tried in California this year which permits passenger cars and light trucks to travel over the summit of the Sierra Nevada using snow tread tires.

This new regulation could be of great benefit to motorists says the California State Automobile Association, but it is being tried on a trial basis and will only become permanent if motorists react to it sensibly and do not abuse its provisions. The main problem is that with snow tires instead of chains on a vehicle, the driver is tempted to drive faster. When there are no chains on the drive wheels to rattle, clank and vibrate, many motorists may be inclined to drive faster than is safe for conditions and be completely unaware that they are doing so.

If the snow tread tire law is to be successful and become a permanent statute, the automobile association says motorists will have to drive carefully and above all keep their speed down on the snow-covered highways.

The new snow tread tire regulation is in effect now and applies to Interstate 80 and U.S. 50. When chain controls are in effect on these two highways, cars and light trucks with snow tires will be allowed to proceed. Tire chains must be carried in the vehicle in case conditions get worse. The snow tires must also be in good condition and will be inspected at the control points.

FINAL PERFORMANCES - Carole Klein of Seaside is seen as Hippolyta in Monterey Peninsula College production of Shakespeare's charming fantasy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream." In its second week, production will run through Saturday, December 12, 8:30 each evening in MPC Theater. Tickets may be reserved by calling box office, 375-0455.

Christmas Is For Children Everywhere

A medical study in Lahore, Pakistan, shows that 9 of 10 babies who reach their first birthday have already started a lifetime of undernourishment the Associated Press reported recently.

Other studies have shown that malnutrition afflicts half the children in underdeveloped countries and may cause permanent mental and physical damage in the young.

These poignant facts underscore the holiday-season CARE Food Crusade appeal, which asks Americans to help the world's hungry children grow into healthy, educated, self-supporting adults. Now, as we plan and shop to make Christmas happy for our children, it behooves us to remember these others who need help so badly.

Under CARE's plan, during the coming year some 23.4 million infants, young children and school children will be fed regularly at institutions--including schools and nutrition centers CARE helped build and hospitals where CARE-MEDICO teams are working.

Somewhere, the young will thrive and have a brighter future if you mail a check to: CARE Food Crusade, 444 Market Street, San Francisco, California 94111.

Grooving Around The Peninsula with Betty Mann

Michele Francis and Harry J. Woods were wed at St. Johns Chapel.

On the storm-swept night of November 28, the rain drumming on the roof of St. Johns Chapel Del Monte in Monterey only added to the romantic setting of the 7 p.m. candlelight formal wedding ceremony of Michele Francis and Harry Johnson Woods. The couple were united in marriage by Dr. Fred Stripp, of Berkeley, the officiating minister and Rev. Jerome I. Politzer, assisting minister. At the very height of the raging storm over 400 wedding guests were arriving at the chapel. They were greeted and assisted from their cars by umbrella bearing pages of the wedding: Dwayne Bass, Ronald Croft and Herman Edwards Jr.

As each guest entered the church, they were presented by the hostesses: Kevin Parker, Wanda Royster and Yvonne Pritchett with artistically designed pink wedding programs that were designed and fashioned by Linda Lee, an art student and a former classmate of Michele. All of the pews were decorated with massive white satin bows and streamers along with miniature white hobnail candles, which adorned the tall posts along the aisles of the church. A "reserved for the family and intimate friends" section was cordoned off by a white satin rope. Minutes before the processional began, a white rug was unrolled down the aisle by the pages for the wedding processional.

A medley of songs by Romburg, Schuman, Wagner and Mendelssohn heralded the prelude of the ceremony, played by organist Mes. Bowhay Solos - "A Time for Us" and "Because" - were sung by soloist's Patrick Duvall and Joyce Hason. The traditional wedding march by Lohegrin and Wagner was played as the processional began. The bride was escorted down the aisle by Mr. Charles Blackburn of Los Angeles, a longtime family friend. After the ceremonial introduction and the double ring ceremony had ended, a chorale rendition of the Lord's Prayer was sung by Joyce Hason. A very special and beautiful part of this elaborate wedding ceremony was the exchanging of personal vows by the bride and groom. They had composed the vows themselves.

Dr. Stripp, the officiating minister, is a Professor of Rhetoric at U.C. Berkeley and is a Marriage specialist. He has performed over 2,500 weddings. He personally composed the very special wedding ceremony of Michele and Harry, which consisted of the three lighted candles, that signified an everlasting flame, a union of eternal love, happiness and sharing of pain and pleasure blessed by God.

The bride's gown was fashioned of Champagne-colored French peau silk, which was highlighted in a very queenly effect by the massive array of heavy encrusted frosted beads, crystals and pearls which flowered out into small bouquets on the bodice and arms of the gown. Her gown was fashioned along the princess look with a high jeweled neck and a empire waistline. A bustle effect on the back of the gown enhanced the completeness of a full length chapel train which gave a slight illusion of the grandeur ball gowns of the Martha Washington era. The bride's headpiece was a Camelot-inspired, shoulder-length bubble veil of illusion lace that was held by a camelot jeweled crown. She carried a bouquet of white rose buds that were centered with two Japet orchids.

Michele's attendants were former classmates, a cousin, and members of her sorority. Her attendants were maid of honor Sherrone Smith of Oakland; matron of honor Charlene Beall of Berkeley; bridesmaids Harriett Johnson of Phoenix, Linda Lee of San Francisco, Frances Jackson of Oakland, Cynthia Almozol of Pinole and Laurie Mearse of Los Angeles. The bridal attendants were the pink and green chosen colors of Michele's sorority, Alpha Kapa Alpha, the gowns of the maid and matron of honor were burgundy red. All of the gowns were made of crushed, cut velvet fashioned with a victorian look that was enhanced by an attached train in the back. Their headpieces were tinted to match their gowns and were of cut floral sheaths of wheat with seed pearls. They carried long stemmed carnations. Their gowns were designed and fashioned by Fredrika.

The best man was Lawrence Motley of Fremont ushers were Peter Beall of Berkeley, James Hilton of Mountain View, Rudolph Williams of Monterey, Charles Austin of Oakland, James McElroy, cousin of the bride from Phoenix, Lt. Commander Thomas Groce of the Post Naval Graduate School of Monterey.

Flower girl was Nita Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Perkins of Seaside. Nita's gown was a miniature replica of the bridesmaids' gowns. Ring bearer was Stephen Ross, three-year old nephew of the groom and god child of the bride's mother. Stephen wore white tie and black tails which was a miniature replica of the groom's attendants.

After the wedding a gala, elaborate reception was held in the Grande Ballroom of the Hyatt House. As guests entered the ballroom they were greeted by hostesses Wanda Royster, Kevin Parker and Yvonne Pritchett, who presented each guest with a souvenir from the bride and groom. The hostesses gowns were also of the A.K.A. sorority colors pink and green. A four-

Mother's Appeal For Volunteers

"Stand up and be counted in the fight against birth defects," urges Dean Goodale, March of Dimes chairman for the 1971 Mother's March in Monterey County. The traditional doorbell ringing will take place in January.

Men, as well as women, are included in the summons. Mrs. Susan Johnson reports that volunteers are needed to handle the many tasks that go into this annual appeal. "If you are unable to make door-to-door collections for us, there are countless other ways in which you can help this drive," she notes. These include preparing the kits, telephoning volunteers to coordinate activities, planning March routes and tallying contributions.

Mother's March collections aid birth defects patients throughout California, along with national programs of research, education and community service conducted by the voluntary health organization.

Prevention of birth defects, which now strike some quarter of a million American infants annually, is the challenging goal of the March of Dimes. Joining the Mother's March is an ideal chance for those who care about the quality of life to step forward. Call 422-8849 for further information or contact Mrs. Lessie Caraway, Seaside chairman for the March of Dimes, at her Beauty Salon, 394-9843.

YMCA Indian Guide Boys Decorate Tree

Several hundred 6, 7, and 8 year-old members of Monterey Peninsula YMCA Indian Guide Tribes gathered at MPC on Friday, December 4, to decorate a huge Christmas Tree with hand made decorations.

The event signaled the opening of the YMCA's Christmas Tree lot at Del Monte Shopping Center. As far as is known this is the only Christmas Tree lot under a roof in this part of the country.

Christmas tree shoppers may choose from among scotch pine, white fir, douglas fir and silver tip varieties at popular prices, while protected from the weather.

Sermon Is About Divine Guidance

The basis for expecting divine guidance and protection will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services, which begin at 11 a.m. at all Christian Science Churches on the Monterey Peninsula.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from Psalms: "The Lord loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this passage will be read:

"The history of Christianity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestowed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering."

Well Rescue Earns Award For Three

Three Pacific Gas and Electric Company employees who assisted police, firemen and other utility company workers in the successful rescue of a 26 month old infant from a well in San Luis Obispo have received company citations for their actions.

Robert R. Stempel, San Luis Obispo district electric superintendent of PG&E, Wilburn Hairgrove, a lineman and Donald E. Thompson, field foreman, helped remove Ryan Todd the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald D. Todd, from an 18-foot-deep well in the backyard of their home at 1856 Vicente Drive.

At a luncheon held at The Brakers in Morro Bay recently, Thomas V. Adams, the company's personnel manager lauded the men for their quick thinking in attaching a dog catcher's snare to an "extend-a-pole," a tool used in their daily work routines, to grab the outstretched arms of the frightened child and secure him from falling farther into the water at the bottom. The child was trapped in the well for about 90 minutes before he was rescued.

The three men have already received letters of commendation for their actions from the city of Santa Maria. The Britton Awards were established in 1927 in memory of PG&E's first president and long time vice-president and general manager.

Enlistees Get Leave For Holidays

A special Christmas leave plan is being offered to Army enlistees this year according to the local Army Recruiting Office.

Called "Operation Holiday," the plan gives a special leave on request to those enlisting in the Army after December 9. Any young man who enlists after that date can be given leave for the holiday season extending through January 4, 1971. After spending the holidays at home, the enlistee will begin basic training in January.

PG&E Hero Gets Gold Medal

An apprentice PG&E lineman, who heroically performed a single-handed rescue of a co-worker from atop a utility pole following an electrical accident and gave yet another employee first aid for injuries received when he fell while attempting the rescue, has been presented the company's highest award for valor.

Ronald Tempalski, 26, of Santa Maria, was awarded the company's John A. Britton Gold Medal at a recent luncheon at the Holiday Inn at Santa Maria.

The medal, encased in a large hand encircled and framed citation, recalls Tempalski's dramatic rescue of John Gilham, 31, after Gilham contacted an energized 12,000 volt transformer near the intersection of Railroad and Sinton Roads and his first aid care for Claude Worsham, 31, who fell while attempting to rescue Gilham. The accident occurred on November 20, 1969.

All three men are residents of Santa Maria. The medal and citation were presented by Thomas V. Adams, the company's personnel manager of San Francisco.

Immediately after Gilham was injured, Worsham, a temporary sub-forman, instructed Tempalski to seek aid by portable radio and then to assist him in Gilham's rescue. Worsham then climbed the 30 foot utility pole, but fell to the ground as he was maneuvering into position to rescue Gilham, who was hanging upside down by his safety belt.

Worsham was badly injured in the fall, suffering a broken leg and serious facial cuts. Tempalski quickly moved Worsham away from the pole and gave him first aid. After Worsham regained consciousness, Tempalski gave him the portable radio and told him to continue to summon help. Tempalski then put on climbing tools and effected the rescue of Gilham, who received serious burns on the right forearm, thigh and lower left leg.

In order to lower Gilham from the pole, Tempalski, who had received extensive first aid and rescue instruction from the company, used a hand line already rigged over a cross-arm. Worsham was able to give Tempalski some help while lying flat on his back.

Once Gilham was on the ground, Tempalski moved both men into the shade and gave both of them first aid until an ambulance and other help arrived at the scene.

In presenting the award, Adams noted that Tempalski had demonstrated an extraordinary display of judgement, courage and devotion to his fellow man in a serious emergency.

Tempalski, at the time of the accident, had been a PG&E employee for three years and had been an apprentice lineman for two years.

The gold award made to Tempalski is only the 17th such medal presented in the 43 year history of the award program.

Betty Mann

foot tall wedding cake, centered the bride and groom's table which was decorated with a long, gathered lace tablecloth that was complimented with scattered red roses. A delicious buffet dinner was served to the 400 guests that attended.

Prior to the day of the wedding a Luau for the bridal party was held at the Ft. Ord officers club, which was hosted by the groom's mother, Mrs. Harris M. Woods, Sr. of St. Augustine, Florida. A roasted pig was the highlight of the luau. The day after the wedding, the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Ellen Harris, who is the society columnist for the POST, hosted a champagne sip for the bride and groom and intimate friends for the opening of the wedding gifts.

Michele and Harry received such a huge array of wedding gifts that the mother's home where they were delivered was completely filled to capacity. After the opening of the gifts the bride and groom left, accompanied by a host of friends for the airport enroute to a honeymoon in Lake Tahoe, the bride and groom were snowed in by a storm in the mountains. (smiles)

Michele graduated from Monterey High in 1963, attended Phoenix college in 1965 and graduated Cum Laude from the University of California at Berkeley, where she is now a counselor and tutorial coordinator of EOP. She belongs to the Alpha Nu Chapter and is the faculty advisor of R.H.O. undergraduate Chapter.

Harry graduated in 1962 from Richard Murray High School in St. Augustine Florida. He attended college in Palatka, Florida. He will further his studies in business administration at U.C. Berkeley in January. He is presently employed with Fireside Thrift Inc. in Berkeley working in industrial finance. The couple will reside in Berkeley. Special out of town guests of the bride and groom attending the wedding were: Mrs. Edna E. Crosby of Maclean, Virginia, an aunt of the bride; Connie McElroy of Phoenix, cousin of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Leval Brown of Los Angeles; Helen Wilson of Berkeley and Mrs. William Isabella of Berkeley.

Despite storm tossed trees, cars crashing into poles and steers that use guy wires for back scratchers, Pacific Gas and Electric Company during the first nine months of 1970 scored a "reliability index" of 0.99984 on its electric dis-

"A perfect reliability index of 1.0 is an economic impossibility," he admits. "No reasonable man-made electric system could reach that point, even if it were not exposed above ground to trees cars and the weather or below ground to other hazards. But we keep trying to narrow the gap."

The devices test the line to determine whether the trouble is transient. If it is more serious, they may bring power in from alternate sources of supply or "sectionalize" the line to limit the interruption to a smaller area, isolating the fault.

PG&E maintains ample power generation reserves. The company reassures customers that widespread interruptions or brownouts of long duration like those experienced by several sections of the East are highly unlikely in California. But limited local interruptions can and do happen, sometimes by strange circumstances.

Trees and tree limbs in contact with power lines cause nearly one-third of PG&E's distribution outages. Last year the company spent more than $5 million for the ser-

About 12 percent of local outages result from cars and trucks hitting poles. "We're limited on preventive measures in this category by the narrow rights-of-way and requirements for safely supporting overhead wires and transformers," Stefanetti says. "If a pole just can't be moved, we install reflectors, and in some cases provide a guard."

Pole-lined major thoroughfares have priority in PG&E's systemwide program to convert overhead wires to underground in special districts formed by local governments.

"Since 1968 we've allocated $25.5 million for these underground conversions throughout Northern and Central California," he says. "As a result, appearance along these heavily traveled thoroughfares has been improved in many communities we serve."

Underground lines are not a panacea for all power troubles, however. "Corrosion, cables unwittingly cut by contractors doing excavation work, equipment failures -- even squirrels and gophers -- can cripple an underground line. And underground problems are harder to locate and take longer to repair," Stefanetti says.

PG&E appreciates California's kinder climate, which makes tornadoes, hurricanes and severe lightning storms less common than elsewhere. Fog, wind and rain, however, create their share of problems, especially in the fall.

Through the dry summer insulators become encrusted with contaminations -- fog-borne salt from the sea, dust from plowed fields and highway construction, farm crop spraying, industrial plants and other sources. The first light rains dampen the dust, making a conducting path for electricity to creep over the insulator's porcelain surface and sometimes resulting in a flashover. This happens in spite of frequent washing by PG&E crews during special wash rigs.

PG&E even uses a computer now to keep track of outages and pinpoints circuits where above-average problems occur. "The computer print-outs help our division and district electric superintendents to concentrate on problems affecting the greatest number of customers and to provide better continuity of service," Stefanetti says.
